The air reverberated with oratory while the telephone bill was under discussion. Judge Duke, who explained that he appeared voluntarily and without remuneration of any sort to advocate the bill, opened the discussion in a vigorous and forceful appeal for the amendment. He was followed by Mr. Moon, Mr. Chipley and Mr. Braxion, in opposition to the amendment, and Hon. W. R. The opponents of the bill contended that the measure imposed a hardship upon the (elephone companies, and required a practical impossibility of them. The question was argued from the standpoint of expediency, princticability as to the mechanical difficulties, and the constitutionality of the measure. Mr. Braxton, who represented the Mutual Telephone Company, of Staunton numerous lines in Augusta county, Lexington, Waynesboro, Clifton Forge and Harrischburg, made an elaborate argument on the constitutional phases of the question, and afterwards on the mechanical difficulties in the way of giving efficient service under the plan proposed by the amendment. At the close of the hearing, at 8 o'clock, the committee took no action on the amendment, but passed by the further consideration of the section and immediately went into the hearing of argument as to the statutes in relation to other public service corporations, especially railways. Messrs. Thom, Hamilton, Wickham and others appeared for the railways and went over the bill with the committee section by section, pointing cut their objections and suggesting amendments thereto. The hearing occupied practically all the evening. The committee flually adjourned without reaching a yote on any of the suggested amendments.

The hearing was one of the best attended of the entire legislative session, and one of the most interesting withal.

VACANT JUDGESHIP.

Mr. M. H. Barnes May Succeed Judge Hubbard.

Judge Hubbard.

The death of Judge J. Filmore Hubbard, of York county, one of the new circuit judges-elect, which occurred Monday night, creates a vacancy in the judiciary which will be filled probably by the present General Assembly. There is no time to be lost, as the new judge must begin service February 1st next. It is expected that there will be a lively competition for the judgeship.

Among those mentioned for the place is Hon, Maniy H. Barnes, of New Kent, who was a member of the Constitutional Convention, a former member of the Senate, and one of the best known inwyers in his section. By a mere coincidence Mr. Barnes was in the city on business at the time of Judge Hubbard's death. He is being urged to run by his friends, and, while he did not deem it the proper time to make any amouncement of his intentions, it is expected that he will be a candidate for the position.

Mr. Roger T. Gregory, of New Kent, is in the field also, and Senator D. Gardinor Tyler is spoken of, it is the general impression that a caucus will be held on the subject next week.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection, and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the weifare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness, Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, innoculated a raibit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become tottilly bald in five weeks' time. BOYS WILL

University College Students Will Cut Classes After Saturday.

MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

Third-Year Class Follows Fourth in Setting Its Will Against the Faculty.

When the dignified professional staff of the University College of Medicine as-sembles on Monday morning next for the resumption of class exercises the indis-pensable student body will be lacking. Certainly, from present outlook, will this be the case with about half the college, be the case with about hair the consequent is the present that the remaining half, or a portion of it, is in the air, and the boys have caught a whiff of it. They are willing to hold out until Saturday, but they can't stand out until Saturday, but they can't stand it after that. The University College has decreed that the Christmas holidays shall begin on December 23d and end with the return to work on the Monday following New Year. A section of the student body, with a possible additional following to be secured later, has decreed otherwise, and it is not hard to see which will prevail, unless something happens when the faculty get wind of the action of the highhanded youngsters. The first step in the matter was taken by the fourth year class of about forty reckless young men, who are now fighting for their degrees. This class, to a man, declared that it wouldn't touch a book during Christmas week, before or after the festival. The third class had already met and decided that it would submit to the will of the faculty. But the action of the seniors brought the third class round.

submit to the will of the faculty. But the action of the seniors brought the third class round.

Nothing was said to the faculty because the boys considered that it would be of no avail. The matter had been decided and could not be changed from that quarter. So the third class gathered at 5 o'clock yesterday and held a sassion extraordinary. There was some hesitancy at first about precipilating the matter; everybody was waiting for the other fellow to do it. Finally the ball was started, and before long a formal motion was made. One or two little speeches were made, and the three or four boys who were holding back were gradually won over. The motion prevalled unanimously. The class declared that it would not attend college after next Saturday. It was said later by some of the boys that any member of it who attended would be expelled from the class organization.

There are two other classes—the first and the second—and it is possible that they, particularly the second, will join

GOVERNOR MONTAGUE READS BILLS CAREFULLY

Governor Montague is exceedingly careful in his scrutiny of bills sent him by the Legislature, as is evidenced by his detecting an error of one word which was plainly a typographical one in Senate bill No. 405. The bill was promptly corrected by both houses after the following message from His Excellency had been submitted:

transfer of our bonds and certificates can be made upon the books of the Second Auditor for three months and a half, and this inhibition upon such transfer will materially interfere with the sale, and consequently the market value, of such bonds and certificates.

It is evident that the word "September" is a typographical error, and I therefore submit the suggested amendment for your consideration.

His subject will be: "The Library in the United States; its Growth, Man ry in the United States; Its Growth, Management, etc." This course, in which Mr. Kennedy is to appear, will include six or eight men prominent in literary and educational circles. Within the few weeks that Mr. Kennedy has had charge of the State Ilbrary, he has done much to popularize the institution, and the use of the books by the public in increasing duity. The reading room at the Library has been greatly improved, the conveniences for the reader increased, and the Library bids fair to become in the near future an important factor in public education, and its usefulness will be felt not only in Richmond, but in all parts of the State.
